School teacher murder: Minor hatched conspiracy with friend to eliminate father

Patna, The police have cracked the mystery behind the murder of a private school teacher, Rajesh Kumar, in Bihar's Muzaffarpur district following the arrest of one of the victim's old tenants. The accused had allegedly stabbed Kumar 17 times for opposing his relationship with his minor daughter. The police said the murder conspiracy was hatched by Kumar's minor daughter. Earlier, the victim's wife was arrested for Kumar's murder. Jayant Kant, senior superintendent of police (SSP), Muzaffarpur, said Kumar was stabbed to death on April 17 in his bed room at Nazirpur locality that falls under the jurisdiction of Ahiyapur police station. A case was lodged against Kumar's three tenants - Manish Kumar, Pankaj Kumar and Mohammad Anwarul Haque - on the basis of the statement of Rita Devi, the wife of the slain teacher. Kumar's daughter had alleged that her mother had an extramarital relationship with one of the tenants, which led to regular fights between her parents and a separation case was pending in a family court. The police conducted a probe in the murder case and arrested Devi, despite her pleading innocence. She told the police that Manish, one of their tenants, had vacated the house on April 5 -- 12 days prior to Kumar's murder. The SSP said the police stumbled upon vital leads in the course of the investigation and Devi's statement.
